If they would have been a bit more patient they would have had plenty of water. So it is with all of us, said the Chafetz Chaim, our inability to see even the immediate future creates all sorts of worry. This limitation can also cause people to fret about things not being as they wish, as they feel there is always something they are missing. Often, however, the things that people worry about turn out much better than they imagined.

The best antidote for worrying about the future is past experience. When a person is aware of how often things they worried about turned out better than expected, they will have a much more patient attitude. "Let's wait and see." Without this experience people suffer needlessly by assuming they will suffer in the future. As a result, they suffer in the present even if it ends up working out. Let's not cause ourselves stress by assuming the worst. We should instead develop greater trust in the Almighty and master the ability to be patient.

This week, let's take a stressful situation in our lives and adopt a "wait and see" approach. Let's tell ourselves that we can have plenty of stress when it doesn't work out. As for now, let's work towards having a positive attitude; most likely, things will turn out for the best.

Have a peaceful Shabbos!

KI Shabbos Youth Groups

KI has Youth Groups every week from 9:00 to 11:15 am. The groups are conducted by the Bais Yaakov girls who have been watching our children during each of the past Signature Shabbos events. There will be at least 2 girls watching the children every week. The Youth Groups are open to all children, from age 3 (provided they are toilet trained) to 10 years old. All of the groups will be under the direction of Shayne Goldberger.
