וַיֵּרָא ד' כִּי רַבָּה רָעַת הָאָדָם בָּאָרֶץ וְכָל-יֶצֶר מַחֲשַׁבֶּת לֵבּוֹ רָק כָּל-הַיּוֹם
 "HASEM SAW THAT MAN DID MUCH EVIL IN THE LAND,
 AND ALL THE THOUGHTS OF HIS HEART WERE EVIL THE ENTIRE DAY." (Bereishis 6:5)

Rashi cites as an analogy that is crucial for living a happy life. When a child is born, parents are happy. Why aren't they tinged with sadness that eventually the child will pass away? The answer is that one must live in the present. At a time of joy, experience the joy of that moment. Do not allow future sorrows to destroy the positive aspects of the present.

People who worry focus their attention on what can go wrong in the future. There will always be something to worry about. No matter how perfect the present is a person will constantly suffer if he thinks about the potential future problems and difficulties. Of course a person must be responsible about the future and plan accordingly. But the only way to enjoy Hashem's world is to appreciate the gifts He has given you. Someone who rents a house or a car knows that eventually he will have to return it. Nevertheless, he appreciates his present use of it. The same is true for all we have in our lives.

Learn to live in the present and you will free yourself from much needless difficulty and suffering.

For this week enjoy the moment and don't flood yourself with worries about the future.

Have a Shabbos of serenity!

Rabbi Kalatsky

HALACHIC INSIGHT

Hilchos Bishul

We have learned so far that certain cooked foods may be reheated on Shabbos. Fully cooked dry foods even if cold, and fully cooked liquids which have not cooled completely i.e. are still suitable as warm drinks. However, even with these foods, certain restrictions still apply to how you reheat them.

We will take the next few weeks to discuss the various Derabanans that apply to reheating food.

Even in a case where a food can be reheated, it is forbidden to do so by placing it directly onto a flame or any source of heat used for cooking. This is known as Nesinah Lechatchilah- initially placing on a direct source of heat. This was enacted by the rabanan because even where bishul (cooking) does not apply, putting food on a flame resembles cooking and might lead to actual cooking. Therefore, cooked foods may not be warmed up on shabbos on a flame, electric range or inside an oven. We will discuss how a blech mitigates these issues later.
