PARSHAS BEHAR BECHUKOSAI

Rav Mordechai Kalatsky
May 12, 23 | 21 Iyar, 5783

וְכִי־תִמְכְּרוּ מִמֶּכֶר לְעַמִּיתְךָ אוֹ קָנָה מִיַּד עַמִּיתְךָ אִישׁ אֶת־אֶחָיו:
AND WHEN YOU SELL ANYTHING TO YOUR FELLOW MAN OR BUY FROM YOUR FELLOW MAN, YOU
(SHALL NOT CHEAT ONE ANOTHER." (Vayikra 25:14)

Seforno comments that the Almighty is the creator of the buyer and seller and does not want either one to cheat the other.

When selling something to another person or when buying something from someone, if you have in mind that the creator of the universe is his G-d you will be careful to not deceive him. If the son of a king or emperor of a powerful nation would purchase something or sell something to you, you would be extremely careful not to take advantage of him. Whether the reason is that you respect his father or the fear of retribution of getting caught, you would not even attempt to deceive him. This should be our attitude in dealing with other people. The Almighty is our father and commands us to be honest with His children.

For this week we should find an opportunity to go out of our way to help someone in their business. Whether it be advice, a lead, a connection or sharing ideas. This shows how much we care about our brothers and sisters.

Have a meaningful Shabbos!

HALACHIC INSIGHT

In situations where it is impossible to select food, one is permitted to remove the waste and leave the food behind. It is this rule which permits one to peel fruits and vegetables on shabbos. Even though I'm separating the peel from the food, since it is impossible to gain access to the food otherwise, removing the peel is not considered an act of selecting, but a routine manner of eating. However, foods may be peeled only for immediate use, and a specialized instrument like a vegetable peeler may not be used. The same holds true for eggs or nuts, which may be shelled for immediate consumption. The use of a nutcracker is permitted. Similarly, when needed for immediate use, one may remove the spoiled outer leaves of a head of lettuce, to expose the fresh ones. Another application is with a cantaloupe. One may scoop out the pits from its cavity since there is no way to remove the food, separating the waste is permitted for immediate use.
