The Ramban states they needed motivation from their hearts because no one had any experience in the skills needed to build a tabernacle. There were no teachers available, but they had the courage to approach Moshe and tell him, "I will do everything you want of me."

Rabbi Yeruchem Levovitz explained if we look at really wealthy people we will see that they have great initiative. There are tremendous differences between people who reach the top because of their drive and initiative and the people who stay behind because of their lack of initiative. The Torah lets us know the people were successful in their holy work because of their inner courage to step forward and say, "I will do whatever needs to be done."

Be aware of those moments in life where you had a desire to accomplish spiritual greatness. Let those memories drive you to even greater spiritual heights. If a person has the courage to accept on himself to do what is needed, he will find many talents and abilities that would have remained untouched.

For this week take a step in your spiritual journey. Study Torah, say a beracha, wake up in the morning and say thank you to Hashem for giving you another day. Whatever it might be, have the courage and drive to keep developing your inner self.

Have a powerful Shabbos!

HALACHA

The listener during kiddush must be silent and attentive and make every effort to hear each word. The listener may not speak during kiddush. If he did the rules are as follows:

1. If he spoke during Vayechulu and he missed some words, he still has been yotze his kiddush obligation. However, he should repeat Vayachulu during the meal with a cup of wine and drink it.
2. If he spoke during the borei prei hagafen he does not need to repeat kiddush but he can't drink the wine unless he repeats the beracha himself.
